FALL REGATTA WILL BE BEST HELD YET

Virginia Boat Club Races This Afternoon Bring Out Formidable List of Entries-Interest in Various Events Is Great and Crowd Will Watch.

All arrangements have been made George H. Ingles; 8, D. G. Tyler; coxfor the big fall regatta to be held by swain, W. P. Waddey. beginning at 3:45 o'clock.

This is the first time in the history of the club that a regatta has been held this late in the season. From the number of entries already in, the success of the regatta is assured.

It means that hereafter the rowing season will be several weeks longer.

The fall of the year is the prettiest season for rowing for pleasure, and this regatta will prove that the interest in rowing does not lay as the footen.

The crew of the athletic association of the First National Bank has been practicing for a good many days, and will give the boat club crew a stiff race; in fact, there is much doubt in the mind of Captain Forrest as to whether his boat club crew can win. whether his boat club crew can win. He has been trying strenuously to whip his crew into shape, and has even gone so far as to get in the boat himself. He has been working hard all the season, and he and his men are as lean as race horses.
